

DANIEL ELLIS

Daniel is probably Australia's most exciting young track cyclist. He has progressed quickly from being a champion junior in 2006 to an Olympian at 19 years of age where he was part of the Team Sprint. He missed a Bronze Medal by .007 seconds.

Daniel is an Australian Institute of Sport Scholarship Holder, and as such trains in Adelaide. He is currently ranked the 2nd fastest rider in the world over 250 metres, and his team is ranked number 1 in the UCI rankings in the Team Sprint.

Daniel's long-term goal is to be selected to represent Australia at senior level at World Cups, World Championships, Commonwealth Games and the Olympic Games. His results reflect and surpass that of Ryan Bayley (current Olympic and Commonwealth Games Champion) at the same age. Daniel has the dedication and work ethic required to achieve his ultimate goal of being an Olympic Gold Medallist.

Daniel believe that the respect of peers and the public is paramount and he promotes himself in the best possible way to gain that respect. He ensures that he has time for junior riders as he always will remember how he felt when a senior rider took an interest in his career.

Daniel is a friendly and easy-going young man, who communicates extremely well and would be an excellent ambassador for any corporate supporter.
